

PROTECT

your mattress or futon from stains and mildew with a washable mattress cover or pad. All products must be free of stains and damage to qualify for our manufactures warranty.

KEEP

your new mattress or futon at least 3 inches off the floor on a slated frame to allow adequate air flow and discourage mildew. Mattresses and futons placed on platform beds or the ground that does not allow air flow through the bottom should be stood up on their side each morning.

BRING

your futon and other bedding made with natural fibers outside to bask in the sun. Seasonal sunning and airing rejuvenates the loft, sterilizes wool and cotton, and prolongs the life of your all natural products. Airing also helps remove any odors trapped in your products because of packaging.

CLEAN

any spills immediately with hydrogen peroxide or baking soda using a very absorbent sponge. If you smell a sweet earthy smell when cleaning this assures you that your product is truly all natural and contains no chemicals.

FLIP

and rotate your mattress or futon once a week for the first month you own it to insure an evenly distributed compression. You should continue to flip and/or rotate your mattress or futon monthly at best or at least seasonally at a minimum. In your first few weeks of use you will notice the development if a body signature which is a normal occurrence and indicates the cotton or wool layers are conforming to the contours of your body. Mattresses and futons made with natural fibers like cotton and wool will compress and become firmer over time and depending on individual sleeping patterns.
